

Get It, Got It, Good!

GIFTS FOR DADS AND GRADS

by ELYSE GLICKMAN

"Meet me at half past gimmel." The Hebrew Men's Watch by Croton features Alef-Bet hour markers set in a gold-coated case. ($50, jewishsource.com.)

Inventor Isaac Levy merges high tech and fashion with TriSpecs. Switch between a built-in Bluetooth headset and your MP3 player with the push of a button. ($200-$225, trispecs.com.)

Those who live life casually but also want to make a statement will love arty interpretations of their favorite rock concert tees from Lyric Culture. ($75, Bloomingdale's and lyricculture.com.)

The new BlackBerry Storm includes the world's first clickable touch-screen display, built-in GPS, 3.2-megapixel camera and enhanced Web browser. It'll not only satisfy high school and college graduates but also dads who want to stay in touch with the latest technology. ($199, Verizon Wireless stores and blackberry.com)

Got a grad heading off to college? Mama Says, No More Frozen Pizza! offers healthier meal options in the form of 24 laminated, easy-to-follow recipe cards packed in a pizza box. ($19, modertribe.com.)

Moshi's IVR voice-activated clock will tell you the time, date or current temperature whenever you ask for it ($50, Brookstone, Bed, Bath, & Beyond, moshilifestyle.com.)

The VestaLife Ladybug boasts a three-inch subwoofer and digital amplifier technology that will help make your iPod/iPhone/MP3 player fly. ($125, Target, Amazon.com and vesta-shop.com.)